England Golf UK

At England Golf, we are passionate about helping our young English players become the best people and golfers they can be. Ever since we built our indoor putting studio, the Zen Green Stage has taken 'centre stage' in helping our players refine their technique with the putter. We all know the importance of world class holing out, it is a central pillar of our philosophy in helping players improve. The Zen Green Stage gives us the optimum adjustable surface area to do so in the most efficient way possible and when combined with the other leading hardware coaching products and the skills of the finest coaches the country has to offer, it's a winning combination that makes it very difficult not to get better!"

PGA

At the PGA National Training Academy, the Zen Stages have transformed our teaching spaces. These innovative platforms allow us to bring the golf course indoors, creating a dynamic and immersive environment where PGA Trainees can experience the real-world impact of slopes on their game.

The ability to simulate a variety of gradients means we can explore how changes in slope affect swing mechanics, perception, and decision-making. This functionality is invaluable, not only for helping students understand how golfers need to adapt to uneven lies, but also for supporting meaningful changes in motion that translate directly to improved performance on the course.

Whether you're a golfer who enjoys the fun and challenge of practicing shots or putts from different lies, or someone who takes a more analytical approach to development, the Zen Stages cater to both.

The precision of the slope settings, combined with the consistency of the surface, allows players and coaches to set up practice activities with confidence, knowing the exact degree of incline they're working with. Zen's Stages are a powerful tool in modern golf training, and we're proud to have them as part of our facility.

People always ask me: how can I change the forces from the ground to change the numbers in the swing? Of all the tools I've previously used, nothing changes the numbers like the Zen Swing Stage does in one single shot. The combination of Swing Stage and Swing Catalyst is now where the magic lies.

I own a lot of different toys, and I can safely say that I think the Zen Swing Stage has had the biggest positive impact on my coaching of anything that I've invested in over the last 10 years.

We have given more putting lessons in the last year than I've seen in 20 years with the help of Zen Green Stage. It gets us a lot more engagement. I can't tell you how much traffic we've had on our Zen in the last year and a half, and it still looks the same as a brand new one.

The Green Stage is a phenomenal putting green in so many different ways. From a flat surface it has allowed our coaches to train their students on improving their putting technique and start lines. With the ability to adjust the green for breaking putts our students have become so much more adept to green reading and playing the appropriate break as well as improved speed control on uphill and downhill putts. Finally, the entertainment aspect of The Zen Green Stage's ability to replicate some of the most famous putts in golf history is captivating for our students and coaches. It's a 'take away' you won't find anywhere else.

When moving to my new putting studio, the Zen Green Stage was the key focus point in the design. In conjunction with our Quintic technology, the adjustable playing surface of the Zen

Green stage now means the whole is greater than the sum of its parts.

The flexibility to coach, putter fit, practice or even carry out research is so valuable to me.

We are thrilled with the new Zen Green Stage installation at our Rockefeller Center location. The integration with SAM PuttStudio and SAM PuttLab delivers a truly best-in-class putting experience — perfect for coaching, training, and just having fun. This setup allows our coaches to create highly personalized sessions and gives golfers an incredibly precise look at their putting mechanics. A huge thank-you to the Zen team and their installer, whose expertise made the process smooth from start to finish.

Richard Skripek, National Team Coach, Golf Austria

As a national team coach, I rely on training technology that is precise, consistent, and seamlessly integrated into our daily high-performance environment. We have been using the Zen Green Stage and Zen Swing Stage in our Performance & Competence Center for more than two years, and they have proven to be exceptionally reliable.

Both systems have operated flawlessly, without a single technical issue during this period. The setup is straightforward, the handling intuitive, and the platforms fit naturally into the structured workflow we maintain for our elite players. The Green Stage and Swing

David Adams, Legends Tour

Zen Green Stage is a next-level fan experience which blends fun and competition perfectly as spectators try to hole legendary putts.

Patrick Milne, CEO, Aguila Performance UAE

As a specialist in high-end, performance-focused simulation, we consider the Zen stages indispensable. Having moving floors is the only way to deliver true-to-life course simulation. By accurately replicating precise ground reaction forces and real-course contours, Zen technology forces natural adaptation, guaranteeing that our clients' indoor practice translates directly into measurable on-course performance improvement. It's the gold standard for authentic indoor golf.

Emily Marron, Head of Women's Golf, University of Central Florida

The Zen Golf Green Stage has become a game-changer for our team at UCF. Being able to practice AimPoint and read greens as the slope changes has elevated our players' confidence and precision on the course. Combining the Zen Green Stage with our SAM PuttLab Studio has created an elite training environment that's helped our team climb to #12 in the current college rankings.

Jeongho Cho, CEO, Golfstage Korea

The greatest advantage of training with Zen is that you can physically feel and memorize a variety of slopes. The confidence you gain when encountering those same breaks on the actual course is on a completely different level compared to traditional training that relies mainly on feel. I consider it the only equipment that truly delivers realistic training. The Zen Green Stage is the final component that has not just completed our golf studio, but fundamentally redefined it. The most significant shift is that our instruction now transcends simple swing mechanics. By integrating the crucial interaction between the body and the ground, we are transforming every practice session into an unparalleled, realistic, and highly effective training experience.

John Howells, Lead Putting Coach, Phil Kenyon Academy at Bocket Hall

I'm really happy with the Zen Green Stage system we had installed for the new Phil Kenyon Putting Studio @ Bocket Hall. I use the Zen every day during assessment lessons and group clinics, and its ease of use is fantastic. The way the platform tilts to create different planar slopes and also compound breaks allows me to set up a huge variety of scenarios for students to train and hone their skills. The Zen operates silently and smoothly, with no clunky movement at all. The green surface is excellent to putt on and provides a consistent speed that closely mimics fast UK summer greens. The team at Zen have been incredibly helpful and supportive throughout. Any issues during installation or in the first few months of operation were handled quickly and knowledgeably.
